The International Women's Day Committee (SA) Inc. was founded in 1938, and is the longest-running organisation of its kind in Australia.

International Women's Day was first mooted at the Second International Conference of Socialist Women in Denmark in 1910.

The first IWD rally in Australia was held on 5 March 1928 in Sydney.

The first official meeting of the SA International Women's Day Committee was held in 1938 and attended by the Women's Council of Trade Unions, the Women's Peace Pledge Union, the Friends, the League of Women Voters, the Women's Welfare League and many other women's groups.

The first IWD celebrations in Adelaide were held on 8 March 1946 at the Adelaide Town Hall.

According to the International Women's Day Committee's 1995 publication Celebration! by Celia Frank and Kirstin Marks: "The Programme consisted of speeches by Mrs Charles Duguid, Mrs Ray Watt and Miss Mary Smith in addition to a pageant entitled "Women Down the Ages" and "March of the Women" sung by Miss Gwen Collett. Dr Constance Davey from the League of Women Voters was in the Chair. 800-900 were present."

The first International Women's Day march in Adelaide was held on 11 March 1947, organised by Women's Liberation.

The first IWD Luncheon in Adelaide was in 1948, with Miss Maud McBriar, Mrs Elizabeth Johnston and Mrs Jean Blackburn speaking on the Importance of International Goodwill and Problems Facing Women in the World Today.
